

Initial Build Notes : Eames House Website

Creative Director: Evelyn Pae

Designer/Developer: Katherine Feng

What's working:

- I really love the look of the sleek home page
- Love the rounded corners of all the images
- Enjoy the way the colors are working
- Enjoy the font choices

What Isn't

- I think there is a lack of cohesion in the design details such as the alignment of the paragraphs
- I also think there is a slight disconnect between the home page and the other pages because of the difference in header

Strategy:

Technical Issues:

Responsive:

- Make the Font slightly bigger when it is in phone mode.
- Also I think it will be nice if the letters continually stack like
The
Eames
House- The way that the tablet view does

Design Issues:

Page Structure:

- Maybe try moving all the header information like the about architects, construction and interior to the top of the page, outside of the square?

- Apply same structure to every page and so there is more cohesion and move the orange header block to run all across the page completely like the mobile version
- Perhaps the text color can change when you hover over it to know that you are clicking that area
- It would also be really nice if all the text paragraphs can be center aligned like the construction section.
